

The Theory of the Construction of Tables of Mortality and of Similar Statistical Tables in Use by the Actuary: A Course of Lectures (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Theory of the Construction of Tables of Mortality and of Similar Statistical Tables in Use by the Actuary: A Course of Lectures To each set of Lectures delivered before the Institute of Actuaries, when published in book form, there has generally been prefixed a short preface, or introduction, written by the President of the Institute then in office. This course, admirable in itself, cannot well be followed on the present occasion, having regard to the fact that Mr. Hardy has, in the interval between the delivery of the Lectures and their publication, himself been elected to the Presidential chair. It has therefore devolved upon us, as Honorary Secretaries of the Institute, to insert this foreword in explanation of a seeming omission, and to express therein the confidence of the Council that the Lectures will be found to be of the greatest interest and value to the profession, which already owes so deep a debt of gratitude to their author.
